Ewelina Sobczak, Manager Regulatory Affairs

Ewelina Sobczak is a Global Regulatory Affairs Manager at dsm-firmenich, Switzerland, with over 15 years of experience in international regulatory affairs. She specializes in regulatory strategies for cosmetic ingredients, particularly UV filters—as well as chemical legislation and crop protection, supporting global market access and compliance. She has led complex submissions and approvals across the EU and international markets, working closely with regulatory authorities, R&D, and business teams.

Claire Fordyce, Managing Scientist - Product Regulatory and Safety

Claire Fordyce is a Managing Scientist with over 15 years' experience in cosmetic and consumer product regulatory affairs. She specialises in cosmetic product safety and global regulatory compliance, advising across a wide range of markets including the UK, EU, and US. With a PhD in Organic Chemistry, Claire brings deep technical expertise alongside a practical, solutions-focused approach to complex regulatory challenges.

Dimitris Tzouvalis, Sales and marketing professional

Dimitris Tzouvalis is a cosmetics professional with over 20 years of experience in laboratory testing and the cosmetic industry. He has built his career at QACS Lab, where he held senior roles across technical and commercial functions, most recently as Head of Sales. He specialises in cosmetic testing, including challenge tests, dermatological studies and claim substantiation, supporting companies from product development to regulatory compliance. His work focuses on translating scientific data into reliable product claims, bridging R&D and regulatory requirements.
